

IRB Determination Date: July 20, 2023

RESEARCH OPPORTUNITY

The Moore Center for the Prevention of Child Sexual Abuse at Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health would like to invite you to join a research study to help them evaluate the Help Wanted Program.

WHAT IS HELP WANTED?

Help Wanted is an online program that aims to provide people with a sexual attraction to children with skills and resources to support their commitment to keep children safe and improve their well-being.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE?

You are able to join this study if you:

- Identify as a cis or trans gender man
- Are 18 years or older
- Have a sexual attraction to children 14 years or younger
- Never had a contact offense with a child
- Never accessed the Help Wanted Program

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Click here or scan the QR code below

Participation is voluntary and anonymous.

Note: The study prioritizes your anonymity by not seeking or recording personal identifiers, IP addresses, geographical locations, browser fingerprinting, or other methods to identify users. All traffic to and from the site is encrypted via https.

QUESTIONS OR CONCERNS?

Reach the study team at

Onlinestudy@jh.edu